Abstract

In this essay, we present the groundbreaking concept of the Blue Tone Enterprise (BTE) for the study and defense of spiritual energies.

We will not dwell on the specific science of spiritual energies and psychotronic warfare, but describe a proposal for how to go about this research, the scientific-institutional framework, with the ultimate goal of proving spiritual energies and building defenses to psychotronic weapons.

Both of these topics of spiritual energies and psychotronic weapons are controversial, and many in mainstream science readily deny the reality of these concepts, but nevertheless, from an experiential, phenomenological point-of-view, we know these realities to be true, which in regards to spiritual energies we have known to be true since primordial times, so the question becomes one of scientific vision and paradigms – but also a question of technology. What possibilities of measurement do we have available today, if we do not have the right paradigm in mind in the first place?

This essay lays out a research agenda into these topics, so that we may further provisional science to the point of being able to prove the reality of spiritual energies, and the ongoing crisis of the threat of psychotronic weapons, which are having a heavy impact on the lives of the modern-day Hyperborean Siddhas.

We hope allied scientists will take an interest in and support the long-term scientific goals of the BTE.

Note: As of 4/4/2026, Blue Tone Enterprise has now been incorporated in Denmark. Next step is fundraising, and making contact with allied philosophers, scientists, and engineers, who are willing to support and work on our projects.

Author's preface

How come modern, materialist science so neglects the idea, reality and nature of the soul, when it claims to be a self-evidential truth? Perhaps materialist science is self-evidential in the sense of ignorance being oblivious, so that there is nothing else beyond oblivion?

We do not deny the importance of empiricism, but as we know from the philosophy of science, science is a provisional program, and should never proclaim to be end all.

Science will always progress into new unexplored territories, in a metaphysical sense, because creation is an unfinished, infinite reality in constant progress and development – creation is not a closed circuit, but nevertheless absolute truth does exist, only this truth is a poetic, mystical truth – an ever-unfolding tale of the “triumph of the heart”.

With that said, it is important that we make progress in empirical science, so that we may be able to define and prove the spiritual nature of creation and of man – the psychic aether and spiritual energies.

This is exactly what the Blue Tone Enterprise (BTE) sets out to do in our R&D programs, envisioning new paradigms, epistemes, and spiritual futures that will bring mankind back on track towards the “New Ethereal Atlantis” – a new golden age, leaving Kali Yuga behind us for good.

The central question is this: Why are the Crown-Chakras and Light-Bodies of the Hyperborean Siddhas being targeted by psychotronic weapons of the Deep State, when mainstream science claims that neither spiritual energies, nor psychotronic weapons exist, and on the contrary talk about the “utopia of a technological singularity”? Is this not immense hypocrisy and falsehood?

Both of these denials can be rebutted, but how do we go about scientifically proving that these realities of spiritual energies and psychotronic weapons are actually true empirically? This is why we now create the BTE.

We hope allied scientist will take an interest in the research agendas and development goals that we here present, so that we may unite to bring spiritual certainty and progress to the good mankind – incipit a new scientific paradigm and global order.

Founding the Blue Tone Enterprise (BTE) – The need for studies in and defense of spiritual energies

It is often said in the scientific community that “consciousness is an under-researched field in the sciences”, but the study of the psyche is not only about consciousness, which of course is central, but also about the study of the spiritual energies of the soul. When we talk about the Aryans¹, the Hypeborean Siddhas, consciousness is transcendental. But what about our spiritual energies, the Light-body, Chakras, Kundalini and Vril? Of course, they must primarily be transcendental, but what is the equivalence of transcendental spiritual energies in the temporal, physical world – how are transcendental energies expressed in physics? This is one of the questions BTE sets out to answer in a scientific framework for studying and defending the essence of the soul in these times of unprecedented technological development, which, if unconstrained or in the wrong hands, could also be a danger to mankind. Since the primordial times of Hyperborea, Atlantis, and later the Vedic era, the spiritual energies of the Aryans have been experientially known, but still to this day, we hardly have any empirical proofs or working theses as how to epistemically define these energies, except for saying that they are “spiritual”. The ambition of BTE is to once and for all solve this enigma of the reality of spiritual energies with the aim of furthering the spiritual enlightenment and liberation of mankind.

One of the core assumptions of BTE is that if it’s possible to attack the spiritual energies by psychotronic weapons, developed in the infamous Deep State Black Projects, then the science of those energies must be known, only hidden from the public, and then we will equally ourselves be able to prove those energies – in other words, the empirical science of spiritual energies is possible, given the right scientific paradigm – spiritual energies are not only a question of faith, but are hard-coded into the physical fabric of cosmos.

In this essay, we will outline the framework for studying these energies, and for how to defend them from the infringements of the military frontier, psychotronic weapons that have been developed, built and deployed after the Second World War. That is, this essay will talk about how to go about this kind of research. In this essay, we will not be talking about the actual science of spiritual energies, but more about how to lay the foundation and create an institutional framework for such a work – the foundation of White Projects, which is so needed in these times, when the tech-gurus openly talk about “technological singularity”, as some kind of utopia, but on the other hand, nefarious forces are attacking the crown-chakras of the Siddhas with advanced weaponry, which we know from experience. Should this be some kind of utopia? Of course not. The current situation is more of a dystopia, if we do not engage actively in the science and defense of spiritual energies – the fabric of the soul.

To the scientists we wish to say: Remember why you became a scientist. Was it not to further the life of man, to solve the enigma of creation, and build even greater monuments of mankind’s spiritual journey towards enlightenment and liberation – love and prosperity? Is this not the ethos of science?

Science should never be made a servant of dominance and oppression, but should always work in the service of life, light, honor, valor, and righteousness – ultimately, the only true science is the science of the heart.

Why is the enterprise called Blue Tone? This is a radical thesis. When we first awoke and started to gather in 2016, some of us heard ethereal transmissions, outlining our missions, which we were told came from ourselves in the future. The transmissions were accompanied by a pleasant tone, which we called the Blue Tone. More on this later, when we will talk about our program on spiritual time travel.

1 For a definition of “Aryan”, see the recent open letter and primer on the threat of psychotronic weapons in Riis-Søndergaard (2026a).

Outline of core institutes and projects in BTE

Let's now present an outline of the institutional framework and R&D projects of this enterprise:

1. Operation Thunderstorm (OT): This is the overarching command of the whole enterprise, where we define strategic goals, and lay out the structure of the operation. The task of the central command of OT is to coordinate the different institutes and efforts, so that we may be effective and efficient in reaching our goals, given the time, resources, personnel, and infrastructure we have. OT works with long-term strategic goals, coordination with external partners, fundraising, hiring of scientists, and is a guarantee that our scientific results are translated into techno-spiritual praxis for the community (Riis-Søndergaard, 2024a).
2. Expert Advisory Panel (EAP): We will set up an external expert panel with the goal of advising the R&D of our institutes. The task of the EAP is to evaluate the research agenda, progress, scientific results, and practical applications, and will consist of allied scientists, fundraisers, and spiritual leaders – an expert, second opinion on the work we will be doing.
3. Research Institute for Spiritual Energies (RISE): This is the theoretical science division of the BTE. So far, we have three programs in this institute.
 1. Occult Physics Studies (OPS): General studies in occult physics, as it pertains to the overall research agenda. How does transcendental consciousness operate? How can we describe physics from a spiritual point of view? What are the spiritual laws of cosmos? How do we define the psychic aether? Etc. (Riis-Søndergaard, 2025a; 2025b).
 2. Project Breakthrough (PB): Specific studies in spiritual energies. Seeks to lay the theoretical foundation for empirically proving the energies in close cooperation with PCV (Riis-Søndergaard, 2024b).
 3. Psionics Research (PR): Advanced studies in Vril, white magic, remote-viewing, psychokinesis, healing, and telepathy.
4. Project Spearhead Industries (PSI): Applied science division of BTE – tech-development.
 1. Project Clear Vision (PCV): Goal of developing measurement techniques and diagnostics of spiritual energies, based on the output of RISE. Also being able to diagnose psychotronic attacks in cooperation with ADRP.
 2. Aryan Defense Research Program (ADRP): Main program on developing defensive measures, counter-measures, to psychotronic weapons (Riis-Søndergaard, 2025c; 2025d; 2025e). We have in these essays outlined the possibilities and goals of such a program.
 3. Project Future Transmissions (PFT): This is an extraordinary, and at this point highly speculative program, which based on output from OPS seeks pathways for “spiritual time travel”. Is it possible to transfer ethereal consciousness across temporal fields? Are the future transmissions purely organic, stemming from higher, transcendental consciousness, or is future tech involved in these transmissions? If future tech is involved, we must develop it.

From this outline, it's clear that the BTE holds a lot of potential for basic and paradigm-shifting science and research. Who would not want to know and understand how to activate the light-body, the Kundalini, and the crown-chakra? The potential is immense for exploring the final frontier of human science, namely that of spiritual man himself – the greatest enigma in creation.

Organizational diagram of BTE

Let's present this overview of the organizational structure of BTE, as it is currently envisioned with the sub-projects listed for each institute:

ORGANIZATIONAL DIAGRAM

This is the institutional framework we seek to develop. In the essays mentioned, you can read more about each institute, and the R&D programs we have developed. As for our research method, we have developed the Aletheian Method (Riis-Søndergaard, 2025f; 2026b), which combines many approaches to research with an emphasis on spiritual phenomenology, mystical poetics, symbolic hermeneutics and direct gnosis. But it is important to know that we do, which is necessary for our goal of building a defense, seek empirical validation of the scientific propositions, for our ambition is to build advanced technology – to monitor and diagnose spiritual energies and the aether, and to defend ourselves from psychotronic aggression. Let's now consider the basics of the research agendas of each institute.

It's important to note that our enterprise is a “White Project”, as opposed to the nefarious Black Projects of the Deep State. The enterprise is purely scientific for the advancement of the spiritual life of mankind, and purely defensive in that we seek to “understand, prove, enhance and defend” spiritual energies. Therefore, we seek to develop what we call “White Technology” to that effect.

When we are successful, we will have the chance of ushering in a new spiritual age for mankind, as is the ancient promise, advancing mankind into the future of a truly spiritual destiny.

But since our gathering, we have met fierce resistance and suppression from the old system, so it's paramount that all good people support the BTE, and our endeavor to understand spiritual reality and energies, so that we together may be able to defend ourselves and be free.

Research agenda of Research Institute for Spiritual Energies (RISE)

RISE is the theoretical science division of BTE. Here we will practice pure/basic research into occult physics, spiritual energies, and psionics.

- d. Telepathy studies.

Research agenda of Project Spearhead Industries (PSI)

PSI is the applied science division of BTE. Here we work to support and translate the results of RISE into practical application and tech-development. Let's present some of the questions and goals of this institute.

1. Project Clear Vision (PCV)

- a. Given the theoretical framework developed in RISE, what are the prospects of empirically monitoring, verifying, proving and diagnosing the psychic aether?
- b. Likewise, what are the prospects of monitoring, proving and diagnosing spiritual energies?
- c. Develop general, prototype tech to monitor the aether and spiritual energies.
- d. Develop commercial, handheld tech to monitor and diagnose spiritual energies for the public.
- e. Prove, monitor and diagnose psychotronic attacks.

2. Aryan Defense Research Program (ADRP)

- a. What are the history and development of psychotronic warfare?
- b. What are the scientific paradigms relied upon in psychotronic warfare?
- c. What is the state-of-the art of psychotronic warfare, and how does it operate?
- d. Who are the actors in psychotronic aggression, what is their agenda, and who are the targets? Spiritual-occult-geopolitical background.
- e. What is the scale of psychotronic warfare?
- f. To what extent has the infrastructure of psychotronic weapons (Skynet) been built?
- g. What is the intersection of technology, occult physics, spirituality and occult war?
- h. In close cooperation with RISE and PCV, how do we prove, monitor and diagnose psychotronic warfare?
- i. What are the possibilities of building defenses to psychotronic weapons?
- j. Develop prototype defenses and applications.
- k. What are the future threats of these weapons?

3. Project Future Transmissions (PFT)

- a. What is the intersection of time, space, spirituality, mysticism and technology?
- b. What research is already ongoing on the topic of spiritual time travel?
- c. What is the nature of ethereal communication and transmission?
- d. Further studies in the relation of the transcendental and temporal planes of existence.
- e. What does the experience of the Blue Tone tell us of the nature and prospect of the occult war, and the resistance to Skynet? What will the future bring?
- f. Make plans for advanced prototype tech for spiritual time travel.

These are some the questions and development goals we will work with in PSI.

The work of PSI will be crucial, if we seek to empirically prove spiritual reality and energies, for by all means, we need new technical development to be able to measure spiritual energies, and the aether, but is this science not already known, only in the dark basements of the Deep State Black Projects? How would they otherwise be able to attack our spiritual energies?

But our technology shall be a White Technology that truly benefits and liberates spiritual mankind.

Reflections on the revolutionary prospect of BTE

Given the institutional framework and the research agendas presented, it should be easy to see how BTE has the potential to become a revolutionary enterprise for the whole of spiritual mankind. Of course, we are still in the early phase of this enterprise, formulating the agenda and defining the structure, but our ambitions are perfectly great – and they should be, if we seek to defend ourselves from the imminent threat of psychotronic weapons. Who else than the Siddhas could define such a program? But still, it's a wonder that not more open research has gone into proving the spiritual energies. These energies are therefore not even recognized by mainstream science, though we assume that the science exists, only in the Deep State, so we are truly set to break the frontier of 21st ct. science in this enterprise with the goals we have defined.

BTE is a long-term strategic, scientific enterprise, which works in accord with our general metapolitical program (Riis-Søndergaard, 2025g; 2025h). The end goal of this masterplan is the construction of a “New Ethereal Atlantis” for all the good of mankind – a higher, spiritual destiny than the mere trivial pursuits of the Neo-liberal world order. As such, we present the true alternative to the materialist worldview, which so dominates modern-day science, politics, and minds of men. We seek to give mankind new hope, reaching for the stars, as we were meant to do as spiritual beings, but a reality of man, which has been deeply suppressed in modernity.

Rather than adhering to the soulless and bleak outlook of the “modern episteme” (Foucault, 1966) of one-dimensional rationality, materialism, and primitive empiricism and positivism, we seek once and for all to redefine man in the spiritual terms that we deserve. Not that we are against empiricism – we only seek to develop the empirics to a point, where the empirics are in accord with what we know in our hearts and by experience. We should not be content that science has forever peaked at the current circumstances, but continue to develop science in the name of the Immortal Heart, as also Popper (1959) and Kuhn (1962) would have us do, when they spoke about the provisional nature of science and scientific progress.

The two-edged sword of science can be used for control and domination, or it can be used to fulfill the needs, dreams, and ambitions of mankind (Huxley, 1946) – we content with the latter.

Has not the techno-scientific, military-industrial complex (Eisenhower, 1961) only gathered more immense strength in post-modernity? It has, and we should be weary not to counter this development by putting a tremendous and definitive effort into building the counterpart of the “technetronic society” (Brzezinski, 1970), the “society of control” (Deleuze, 1992), namely the White Projects of BTE for the spiritual enlightenment and liberation of mankind.

What we need is a paradigm-shift, a new episteme, that will accept, understand and develop the inherent and organic spiritual nature of man, as opposed to the prospect of a near demonic, synthetic “technological singularity” of counterfeit transcendence, as also Faust was promised by the devil (Goethe, 1829/1831).

When we are successful, and we will be, we have the real prospect of a revolution in the human, social and natural sciences, and in the global, political order – our ambitions are nothing less, for the Hyperboreans know of our origins in spirit, as Plato (4th BC; 385 BC), Plotinus (270), Blavatsky (1889) and Rosario (1985; 2022; 2023) spoke about, when contemplating anamnesis (total recall), the minne (loving remembrance), and ecstasia (transcendence/ascension) – the Holy Grail.

Let's end this essay with a call to our allies, especially in the sciences, to support the work and ambition of the BTE by furthering our scientific programs – reaching out for collective pursuits.
